BACK END : SQL server 2008

MAIN PROJECT - E-COMPILER

Abstract

As it is a competitive world and very fast world, everything in the universes is to be internet. In this internet world all the things are on-line. So we created software called "On-line java compiler with security editor".

The main aim of this project we can easy to write a java program and compile it and debug in on-line. The client machine doesn't having java development kit. The client machine only connected to the server. The server having java compiler. So server executes the java code and produce the error message to the appropriate client machine.

In this project is also creating a security editor, this editor performs Encrypt and Decrypts the file. Encryption and Decryption process perform using RSA Algorithms. There is lot of security algorithms are there, but RSA algorithm is very efficient to Encrypt and Decrypt the file.

In this project is used to view all type of java API. It is very useful for writing the java program easily, for example if any error in the format of API means we can able to view API throw this module.
