SUMMARY

Highly motivated and passionate Doctor of Medicine degree graduate with the professional qualification of Master Physician. Since I haven't written the MCI screening test that allows me to practise in India, I am currently unemployed. Medical transcription is an equally interesting job that I am familiar with as I have assisted my mother who enrolled in the course but unfortunately couldn't complete due to typing difficulties. I am a fast typer (35 wpm) and I am also aware of medical terminologies which makes me an eligible candidate to enter as a transcriptionist, even though I am a fresher. Therefore kindly consider me for posting.

EXPERIENCE

23/10/2023 - Ongoing

Mar Chrysostom Fellowship Medical Mission Hospital, Kumbanad, Kerala, India

Observer

Observership done in various departments of this 150 bed hospital including General Medicine with responsibilities carried out under supervision. I'm working as an observer since I haven't gained registration from my home country. The responsibilities include Ward rounds, history taking, Physical Examination, learning the decision making done by doctors regarding the patient management, Observing the various diagnostic modalities, writing discharge summaries and many more. Currently carrying out these responsibilities adhering to the hospital guidelines under supervision for increased clinical exposure and to learn about hospital functioning.

Advantages:

1. Exposure to a variety of cases, history taking and complete physical assessment, Interpreting lab reports, ecgs, xrays and observing treatment modalities
2. Discussions with senior doctors which hones my skills
3. Accessibility to emergency cases and opportunities for assessment under supervision
4. Improving communication skills and rapport in regards to the senior doctors, nurses, patients and relatives.
